Pupils give harvest hope to food bank

PRIMARY school students have put their minds and money together to start a harvest collection.

Pupils at Heathlands School in South Harrow put together a harvest festival production last week and have been collecting food to donate to Harrow food bank as part of the project.

The production, organised by Year 2 pupils and entitled Harvest Hope, was also held to celebrate the school being awarded the rare Level 2 Rights Respecting UNICEF award this month.

Harrow West MP Gareth Thomas attended an assembly at the school on October 16, to present the pupils with their award, praising them for their positive attitudes.

Headteacher Chris Spruce said: "Achieving this award is a milestone in the story of our school.

"Actively respecting our rights together has enabled us to build a caring and happy community that supports outstanding learning."
